Tutoring Experience

I have been tutoring IB and A-Level Psychology for over six years, helping students overcome challenges in understanding the subject and preparing for exams. My background as a school counsellor allows me to better support students by addressing both their academic needs and the pressures they face during exam preparation.

Throughout my experience, I've worked with students from a variety of curricula, including IB, AP, and IGCSE. By guiding students through their internal assessments and final exams, I've helped them achieve top marks and cultivate a genuine interest in the subject. My goal is to ensure each student feels confident and prepared for any academic challenge.
